CURFEW FOR YORK SPRINGS BEGINS JUNE 14

June 14 will be the deadline for York Springs, under 18's to stay out past 10 p.m.

York Springs Mayor Mark Hinkle said today he intends to begin enforcement of Ordinance 1962-A passed by the York Springs borough council April 2, as of June 14.

Because the ordinance putting a curfew on the activities of the younger set was not advertised until May 14, Mayor Hinkle said he intended to give the area 30 days to familiarize itself with the new law before beginning enforcement.

Chief of Police John H. Bechtel will probably call attention to the ordinance if he finds young people under 18 years of age on the streets alone or with other youths after 10 o'clock at night.

WOULD COVER DATES

After June 14 he is to follow the provisions of the ordinance which provides that he is to take the child into custody and deliver him or her to the child's parents. Then he is to report immediately to the mayor so the mayor can put the name of the child in a book to be kept for that purpose. Then a charge of violation of the ordinance will be brought by the chief before either the mayor or the justice of the peace.

If the parent is found guilty of permitting his under-18-year-old child to be at large after 10 p.m., then the parent can be fined up to $25 and in lieu of fine can be placed in jail for not more than 10 days.

For the benefit of boys 18 years or older who might be dating under 18-year-old girls and keep them out after 10 o'clock, the law provides that a similar fine or imprisonment "shall be imposed on any person aiding orabetting the violation of this ordinance."

TO JUVENILE COURT

There's a reason for the mayor's keeping a book listing the names of offenders of the ordinance. After the same name appears three times in the book the child will be reported as a delinquent to the Adams County Juvenile court and proceedings taken against the parents or guardian.

Mayor Hinkle indicated that the law will be administered to prevent "loafing around and parking here and there" in the borough, but will also be administered to permit attendance at high school activities. On nights when plays, games, etc., at school might keep youngsters out past 10, the chief will be instructed to so enforce the law as to permit the youngsters a reasonable time to get home after the event.

WON'T STOP CARS

Mayor Hinkle said the ordinance was drawn stating the hour after which children under 18 may not "be or remain in or (Continued On Page 5)

JUMPING FROG RACE SUNDAY

ANGELS CAMP, Calif. (AP)—Mark Twain inspired this gold rush day town's annual Jumping Frog Jubilee with his story of the frustrated hopper.

Loaded with buckshot by a slick gambler, the frog was unable to leap in Twain's "The Celebrated Jumping Frog of Calaveras County."

Buckshot will be barred when hundreds of frogs compete Sunday in the 34th annual Calaveras County Fair's Jumping Frog Jubilee.

Frogs still were being flown in from all parts of the world and the jubilee sponsors were having trouble keeping track of them. They didn't know how many entries they had.

But they noted frogs from Africa, Spain and many states, including Missouri, Illinois, Connecticut, Maryland, Arkansas, California, Nevada and Oregon.

Each entrant gets three leaps which are totaled.

If a hopper breaks the world's record Sunday his owner will win a $1,000 prize. An owner of a frog equaling the 16 feet 10 inches record will get $500.

If the record is not equalled, top prize will be $300.

The turbulence, concentrated along a line from western Oklahoma to the Great Lakes, also spawned several tornadoes. It separated the cool air from the hot in the nation's midsection.

Funnel clouds were sighted Friday night 25 miles northwest of Wichita, Kan., and a twister hit a farmstead near Council Bluffs, Iowa. McCook, in western Nebraska, was without electricity for two hours when a twister felled a power line.

3 CANADIANS TELL STORY OF CAPTURE HERE

Sketches

BY BEN BURROUGHS

"HOLY FATHER"

How does it appear to a stranger when he is stopped in Gettysburg and finds that he's a guest of the community?

The answer is given in an article appearing in The St. Catherine's Standard, daily newspaper of St. Catherine's, Ontario, Can., on May 9.

Under the heading "Guests for a Day: St. Catherine's Family Captured in Gettysburg," the newspaper tells the story of Mr. and Mrs. J. Stanley Elliott and their daughter who were chosen by the Kiwanis Club here to be the guest of the club in observance of Canada-U.S. Goodwill week.

The article states in part: "When you're traveling in another country and the police suddenly stop you, chances are you get a bit of a shock."

"WONDERFUL MEMORY"

"That's what happened to a St. Catherine's family recently—but the shock soon passed in an overwhelming display of friendship and hospitality."

J. Stanley Elliott, former director of guidance for St. Catherine's schools, his wife and daughter, Isobel, got the full treatment when they were chosen by the Kiwanis Club of Gettysburg, Pa., to be the central figures in the club's annual Canada-U.S. Goodwill Week.

"They were headed for Virginia when the police stopped them outside Gettysburg at 9 o'clock one morning. Club and civic officials stepped up to greet them."

"It was quite a surprise, but a delightful one," Mr. Elliott said. "Gettysburg is a good place to come to, but there must also be good people in the place to make us feel so much at home."

"Our visit to Gettysburg was a wonderful memory," Mr. Elliott told The Standard. "It's just a small thing, involving only a few people, but it demonstrates how much understanding can be developed if people can just get to know one another."

MOTHER HURLS 2 KIDDIES TO THEIR DEATH

BOSTON (AP)—A mother killed her two small children, police said, by throwing them from a ninth floor room of the Statler Hilton Hotel late Friday night. Police identified the woman as Mrs. Ann Peters of Worcester. She is about 30 years old and a former mental patient.

The children, Norman, 7, and Marguerite, 3, died within minutes after they landed on busy Columbus Avenue at the rear of the hotel.

A police lieutenant said the Peterses have been separated about a year.

MOTHER IS HELD

The husband, Theodore, a truck driver, was located in Worcester early today and immediately headed for Boston, about 50 miles away, to be at his wife's side.

Mrs. Peters and the two children checked into the hotel at 5:19 p.m. Friday. She said they would stay about one day.

At 11:40 p.m. a doorman at the rear of the hotel was checking parked automobiles when the first of the children came hurtling down, followed quickly by the other child.

Police said Mrs. Peters would be held for observation. No charge was placed against her.

In Collision With Hanover Policeman

Russell L. Steinmetz, 62, Monocacy Station, Berks County, suffered lacerations and contusions of the right forehead in an auto accident Friday afternoon at 4:50 o'clock at Madison and Linden Aves., Midway.

State police said Steinmetz, who was visiting relatives in McSherrystown, was in a collision at the intersection with a car driven by Mrs. Harry R. Dunnock, Baltimore; Mrs. D. E. Laird, Taneytown, and Wallace R. Francis, Milford, Conn., and by eight grandchildren.

Funeral services Monday morning at 11 o'clock from the United Presbyterian Church, Taneytown, with the Rev. William M. Hendricks officiating. Interment in the Milford, Conn., Cemetery. The family has asked that in lieu of flowers donations be made to the Taneytown Presbyterian Church building fund. There will be no viewing. Funeral arrangements are being made through the Fuss Funeral Home, Taneytown.

RALLY DAY MAY 27

Rally Day will be observed at the Mt. Calvary EUB Church on May 27 and not this Sunday as was announced incorrectly on Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Herman Smith, York, will conduct the service at 11 a.m. on May 27.

Damage to the Steinmetz car was estimated at $300 and to the Dubs auto at $400.

Heidlersburg UB Plans Rally Day

Rally Day services are planned for the Heidlersburg United Brethren Church Sunday.

During the 9:30 a.m. service, the pastor, Rev. Jacob Stover, will teach the adult department of the Sunday School. At 10:30 a.m., Mr. Dey, an exchange student from India who is studying at Messiah College, Grantham, will be the speaker.

At 7:30 p.m., Ivan Houck, Lemoyne, general secretary of the Central Pennsylvania YMCA, will give the address. Special music is planned for the morning and evening services.

The public is invited.

Changes For Old Church

The Gettysburg Presbyterian Church came through the battle of Gettysburg 99 years ago without major damage but a few weeks of the hands of workmen of the A. B. Seifert Company have left it a brick shell as the first step in a $250,000 remodeling program. Stained glass windows, vestibule and pipe organ are gone as are floor and ceiling. A new front with a cupola will be erected. There will be a balcony across the west end of the church auditorium. Excavation under the auditorium will provide Church School space. (Times photo)

Talked With Top Red For 13 Hours

NEW YORK (AP)—White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger says he spent 13 hours talking with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, but that he brought no message from the Russian leader to President Kennedy.

Salinger arrived here Friday night by plane and said he would meet with Kennedy over the weekend.

In response to questions by newsmen, Salinger said: "I won't get into any further discussions on my talks with Mr. Khrushchev."

As for planned television appearances by Kennedy in Russia and Khrushchev in America, Salinger replied that such an exchange proposal was "on the shelf for a while, but will come even trivial offenses.

Mrs. Lucy Hunt, Shasta County superintendent of schools, said Friday that Mrs. Adah Maurer, 56, has been removed from her post as county school psychologist and that her contract will not be renewed when it expires June 30.

Mrs. Maurer came to this Northern California county in February from Chicago. She had made her charges concerning the spanking in a letter to the editor of the Redding Record-Searchlight.

TRIVIAL OFFENSES

The letter said in part:

"Children are beaten for trivial offenses. Many do not even have the protection of the California education code which makes it mandatory that a witness be present and that girls be not so punished."

In announcing Mrs. Maurer's removal, Mrs. Hunt said, "she has outlived her usefulness." She added, "I'm sure nobody would condone spanking a school child for a trivial matter."

In her letter, Mrs. Maurer charged James Cross, a school principal, with paddling a 12-year-old boy. Battery charges have been filed against Cross, who pleaded innocent. Cross asked for a jury trial and its date was set for July 16.

SCHOOL CRITIC IS DISMISSED

REDDING, Calif. (AP)—A woman school psychologist has been relieved because of her charges that Shasta County school children are being spanked for trivial offenses.

Barnes Paintings Called Forgeries

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The chairman of the Fine Arts Department at Harvard University says 26 paintings in the multi-million dollar Barnes Foundation collection are misattributed and three could be considered forgeries.

Dr. Sydney J. Freedberg made the comment Friday after touring the Barnes Gallery in suburban Merion with Dr. Frederick Hart, chairman of the Art Department at the University of Pennsylvania.

Freedberg criticized the foundation for allowing questionable work to remain on view.

Barnes officials made no comment.

The gallery and the collection, valued at $100 million, are tax exempt. The state is currently seeking through the courts to end what it calls restrictive regulations on admission of the public.

SEEK TO OPEN UNION TALKS

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The government will try Wednesday to get bargaining talks between the nation's railroads and five operating unions back on the track.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg Friday asked representatives of both to meet with him "to review the matter."

The railroads broke off six weeks of talks in Chicago Thursday. They said the unions refused to consider cost-cutting recommendations of a presidential railroad commission.

These included recommendations to eliminate firemen on freight locomotives and to give the carriers more leeway in trimming manpower to requirements.

The unions represent 200,000 men operating the trains, including engineers, firemen, trainmen, switchmen and conductors.

Around The Town: Some tourists who come to Gettysburg expect the battlefield to be a tiny plot with a fence around it and are amazed at the size of the local battlefield, but not an unknown Philadelphia woman. Sixty county women who visited Philadelphia Thursday were amused at a conversation they overheard in Independence Hall. Pleased to note books about Gettysburg on sale at the building where the Declaration of Independence was signed, the local women gathered closely as another visitor and her companion began looking at the books. One remarked that she thought she would buy one of the Gettysburg books. The other said "No, there's no sense going there (to Gettysburg) why there's nothing but space there."

Today's TalkSILENT UNDERSTANDING

The time comes, sooner or later, when our friends are gathered to us because of what they fail to say more than for what they have said, or are apt to say. In other words, the lasting friendship becomes cemented largely by silent understanding. Most of us feel our friends by instinct. They are either of us a vital and living part, or they are not. We absorb all that we are. We are a make-up of influences.

When we feel that another understands us, what is the use of words?

Often this silent understanding moves through the pages of a book, enveloping and enriching the very words of the text. We live with his eyes, we move across his world, we tread fields and lie awake, meditating with him. Fireside sittings, whether by beach camp fire, or blazing birch logs on one's home fireplace, seem to call for so little talk. I have always wondered at this. Perhaps it is because there is such an analogy to the movement of thought and life in the burning embers — warmth, glow, beauty — then the silent ashes.

The older we grow the more we search for meanings. There is so much lost in mere words. But a look, a smile, a hand clasp, an attitude — silence — these we can understand.

After our arrival at many stations in life, our simpler moods get more consideration. And more people of like frame and mind like to have us around.

Then it is that the "Good Morning" and "Good Night" come most and best into their own!

"Life owes me life," one said

"And meat and bread;

Beauty and friendships, too;

Strength for the work I do."

Then sat him down to wait

Till he should find his gate.

But life went marching on Till youth and strength were gone.

Friendship had long since fled

The begging hand outspread.

Beauty, disconsolate

Had withered by his gate.

Another said: "Each day

My debt to life I'll pay.

Some small return I'll make

For every hour I take.

With every hurt and blow

Stronger I'll try to grow."

His Life became a thing

As glorious as the spring.

Edged with achievement's gold

And friendships young and old.

Eyes bright and heart elate

And beauty round the gate!

KEN JOHNSON BEATS GIANTS ON FIRST HIT

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer
The fluctuating career of knuckleball specialist Ken Johnson, resembling one of his best pitches, was back in the strike zone today. The Houston hand-me-down won his first game of the season with his first hit.

A victim of a low output offense in losing five games, Johnson got the job done singlehanded against National League leading San Francisco Friday night, cooling off the sizzling Giants with a four-hitter and driving in the winning run in the Colts 3-2, 10-inning victory.

Johnson, acquired by Houston from Cincinnati in the player draft that stocked the new club, baffled the Giants with his assortment of "junk" pitches until he got a chance to win it with a two-out single that scored Carl Warkwick.

HOLD 3-GAME EDGE

The Giants, however, maintained their three-game edge over the runner-up Los Angeles Dodgers, beaten by third-place St Louis 3-2. Cincinnati's fourth-place Reds closed in as Bob Purkey brought his record to 7-0 with a 4-1 victory over Pittsburgh. Milwaukee's Warren Spahn held the New York Mets to three hits for a 5-2 decision, and Chicago's Cubs outslugged Philadelphia 11-8 in other games.

Charley James' single drove in two first inning runs for the Cards before they clinched it with four in the third, Bill White knocking in a pair with a single. That proved enough for Larry Jackson (4-4), who scattered nine Dodger hits. Johnny Podres (3-3) started for Los Angeles but had to leave in the first when Ken Boyer's single hit him on the left forearm.

ALLOWS 6 HITS

Purkey limited the Pirates to six hits—one a Homer by Bill Virdon—while the reds used a three-run outburst in the seventh to break a 1-1 tie for their seventh victory in eight games. A bases-loaded single by Vada Pinson and Frank Robinson's run-producing hit did the damage in the rally that tagged Harvey Haddix (2-2) with the defeat.

Spahn (4-4) posted the 313th victory of his career when the Braves snapped a 2-2 tie in the eighth on a two-run Homer by Mack Jones and a bases-empty shot by Eddie Mathews. Hank Aaron earlier had hit his sixth Homer in support of Spahn, who allowed sole homers by the Mets Gil Hodges and Frank Thomas. Roger Craig (2-4) went the distance for New York and took the loss.

Consecutive homers by George Altman for five runs batted in and one Homer each by Ernie Banks, Ron Santo and Bob Will paced the Cubs, but they needed a three-run ninth to put it away. The Cubs got the winner when Phil's reliever Jack Baldschun (1-4) walked Santo to force in a run. Jim McKnight's two-run single gave Dick Ellsworth (3-4) more working room.

Meet Closes At Downs Tonight

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va. — What's Up Doc, Hel-Doc Farms' great grey, has been assigned top weight of 129 pounds for tonight's race. July 2 Handicap at Shenandoah Downs. The one-mile feature heads a 10-race program that will close down the 31-night spring meeting, most successful in Shenandoah's four-year history.

What's Up Doc will be making his second appearance under the Shenandoah lights, having won the Iron Horse Mile last summer. Ten handicap stars have been named for the event, which carries a $4,000 purse.

The first running of the Deep Sun Handicap has been carded as a secondary feature, carrying a $2,500 purse and attracting seven speedsters for the 3 1/2-furlong race. The race honors Deep Sun who tied the world record for the distance here in 1959.

The night track will wind up with a record mutual handle of better than $260,000 per night, up 23 percent over the best previous meeting. Shenandoah will reopen July 2, running through September 8.

He said that choice was made so "10 would mean whatever time it is—Daylight Saving or Standard—that is in use at any given time."

Without so stating it, Mayor Hinkle indicated that in general cars driving through the town will not be stopped after 10 o'clock to determine whether the driver might be under 18 but, if a car is stopped for any other reason and the driver is found to be under 18, the ordinance will apply.

Seeger, who often performs at Communist-sponsored events, has said, "I never refused to sing for any organization because I disagreed with its beliefs."

PROBE RED TIES

He was charged with having refused to answer questions at an inquiry into Red links in the entertainment world held by a subcommittee of the House Committee on Un-American Activities. A jury in Federal District Court here convicted Seeger of contempt in 1961.

In reversing the decision, the appeals court held that the indictment was defective because it failed to define properly the authority of the subcommittee to conduct the hearings.

WOULD RUN RISK

"We are not inclined to dismiss lightly claims of constitutional stature because they are asserted by one who may appear unworthy of sympathy. Once we embark upon shortcuts by creating a category of the 'obviously guilty' whose rights are denied, we run the risk that the circle of the unprotected will grow."

Seeger, who lives near Beacon, N.Y., did not base his refusal on the Fifth Amendment, which cites self-incrimination. Instead, he stood on the First Amendment, which is the Constitution's guarantee of free speech.

The entertainer was cited in an indictment returned here in 1957 for refusal to answer 10 questions put to him by the subcommittee.

They concerned is political beliefs and he called them "improper and immoral to be asked of any American."

LEW KRAUSSE IS HAVING HIS OLD TROUBLE

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Righthander Lew Krausse may have run into trouble in his efforts to gain the 300 innings experience with the Class A Eastern League that he needs to get back on the Kansas City A's roster.

Krausse, the $125,000 bonus pitcher who spent last season with the A's, had a 1-0 lead going for the Binghamton Triplets Friday night in six innings against Williamsport, but his arm started to bother him.

Manager Granny Hamner took him out in the seventh and Krausse went to Wilson Memorial Hospital at Binghamton for X-rays.

Doctors said results of the X-rays will not be known until later today. But they indicated Krausse may be suffering a recurrence of the bursitis that has bothered the youngster for several weeks.

NO BONE INJURY

Doctors said there was little chance of bone injury, but it will take time to clear up the bursitis. Krausse now has a 3-3 record for the season.

Williamsport had tied the score 1-1 on a Homer by Richie Allen and then had scored two more runs on a double and single before Krausse went to the showers.

The Grays stayed off a late Triplets rally to win 6-5. In the only other game Friday night league-leading Charleston beat the York Roses 4-2 with Sonny Siebert getting the credit.

A violent thunderstorm washed out the Springfield-Elmira game with the Giants leading 3-0 in the bottom of the third.

Although Siebert got the win for Charleston, his third against one loss this year, Pete (Papa) Olsen came on in the sixth to save the day. Guido Grilli was the loser leaving him 2-3 so far.

Nine Steps For Top Milk Production Are Suggested

By FRANK ZETTLE

County Farm Agent

If a dairyman is serious about breeding a better herd with high production per cow these steps are designed to obtain the maximum rate of improvement in milk production with the minimum investment of time and money:

1. Keep individual records of production (DHIR, DHIA, or Owner-Sampler).

FRANK S. ZETTLE

2. Choose herd sires from your favorite AI stud.

3. On the basis of six-month lactation reports rank cows from high to low twice a year. The ranking should be based on the ME (mature equivalent) figures to allow for age differences within the herd.

4. Use previous records, if any, when a close decision needs to be made.

5. Remove at least the bottom 10 to 15 per cent of the milking cows each year for low production. Any cow whose 305 ME record is 2,000 pounds of milk below the herd lactation average should be removed.

6. If you have to choose between a poor mature cow and an average two-year-old, give the two-year-old a second chance.

7. If you have to choose between a poor cow and her daughter, save the daughter.

8. Do a good job of herd management to prevent undue losses of good cows.

9. Give every cow an equal chance. Challenge her genetic ability by giving her all she'll eat and measure the response.

NEED GOOD EQUIPMENT

Most important piece of equipment on a beef cattlemen's farm is a chute and headgate. A properly equipped chute and headgate will reduce much of the labor required to restrain cattle for such jobs as blood testing, tattooing, dehorning and treating them for any ailments.

Locate the chute at a place convenient to buildings and pastures, preferably on well-drained ground to avoid mud. If not built on level ground, it is better to have cattle walking uphill in the chute than downhill.

Width of the chute leading to the headgate is very important. Many are built too wide. An inside width of 26 to 28 inches is correct, because young cattle can turn around in a chute wider than this.

PLANS AVAILABLE

Make sides of the chute five feet high and board solid 30 inches up from the ground. For such jobs as treating for grubs, a walkway on one side of the chute about two feet above the ground is an added convenience.

IMMEDIATE HAZARD

After attack, there would be an immediate external radiation hazard to unsheltered living creatures, caused by direct exposure to gamma rays and beta particles.

Also there would be an immediate internal hazard if man or animals consumed food, feed or water contaminated with fresh fallout. These contaminated foods and feeds could be discarded or decontaminated for use, or put aside until their radioactivity had decreased to a safe level.

After the fallout was down, the principal source of internal radiation for man and animals would be direct. This could come partly from radioactive substances which had fallen upon and entered plants through their blossoms, leaves or stem bases. Also radioactive particles in contaminated soils might be absorbed through plant roots into food and feed crops. If meat and dairy animals ate contaminated feed, some of the radioactive elements would be absorbed into their bodies. Thus, in areas of significant fallout, man's food supply of both plant and animal products might be after fresh fallout decayed.

For several years, Civil Defense officials have conducted an annual test exercise from which extensive computations have been made. The Operation Alert 1961 data are typical. That test considered effects of 260 weapons totaling 1,425 megatons, with the assumed targets spread throughout the nation. Based on the wind and weather conditions that actually prevailed at the time of the exercise, fallout estimated indicated that, in such an attack, only about 4½ per cent of our total land area would receive fallout which had exceeded 300 roentgens per hour at one hour after the explosion. Only about one-half of one per cent of our land would suffer from really heavy radiation, while about 75 per cent of our total land area would receive out still more of this strontium from entering his bones. The same is true, but to a lesser extent, in meat and eggs. If there are equal amounts of calcium and strontium in plants, only one-eighth of a unit of strontium to each unit of calcium would enter the bones of the human population.

Research on radioactive fallout is continuing. New knowledge is expected to lead to improved methods of protecting Americans and their property from hazards of fallout in time of emergency. With the help of nature, science and your own carefulness, you can survive.

SURVIVAL POSSIBLE

Fortunately, there is a natural protection against radioactive strontium, measured by the term "discrimination factor." This refers to the body's preference for calcium over strontium. If plenty of calcium is available, relatively more calcium than strontium would be carried along as these minerals move together through the food chain from the soil and the plant. The same discrimination factor operates as these minerals move through the body of animals to the meat and milk, and again as they pass through the body of man.

In milk the biological system of the cow screens out most of the strontium (about 90 per cent) from entering the milk. Then the biological system of man screens out still more of this strontium from entering his bones. The same is true, but to a lesser extent, in meat and eggs. If there are equal amounts of calcium and strontium in plants, only one-eighth of a unit of strontium to each unit of calcium would enter the bones of the human population.

Now they haven't been able to establish peace in Algeria.

CAN'T DEFEND SELVES

And at no time since World War II, including now, have the French ever remotely been able to defend themselves from Russian attack, either with manpower or nuclear weapons, since they had no such weapons.

In these years the United States—with its bombers and nuclear power—has been for the French, as for the rest of Western Europe, the shield which deterred the Russians.

De Gaulle, who has always found it unbearable to think of France in a secondary or dependent condition, finds it unpalatable now even if it means abandoning reality and wrapping himself in the cocoon of dreams.

THIRD FORCE

This week at a news conference, where the questions were prepared in advance, De Gaulle said the conditions under which France is the United States for years take responsibility for its protection are past.

De Gaulle, even though France along with the United States is part of Western Europe's NATO defense, envisioned a France relying primarily on its own defense with her own atomic weapons which she still must build.

This was like declaring France a third force in Europe where now there are only two forces: NATO and Russia.

There was unintended sadness in this. De Gaulle talked, as he always has, like a man who considered himself the architect of the French future for generations to come, as if his policy would be the lasting policy.

TIME RUNNING OUT

But, at 71, time is running out on him. He seems unable to realize, or perhaps prefers to ignore, the possibility his successors, whoever they are, could and probably would change the French direction.

Thursday Kennedy, at his news conference, replied to De Gaulle in language deceptively soft. There was no visible harshness. But it was implicit in what he said:

1. He thinks it will be a long time before Western Europe can feel able to defend itself without American help and the presence of American forces there.

2. It would be regrettable to set up a third force and thus break the long-established, intricate and thoroughly interdependent NATO alliance which has been built up by so many men of good will.

DANGER INCREASES

3. The deterrence to Russia which NATO now has—meaning nuclear weapons in the hands of the United States—is enough for Western Europe's protection.

Then Kennedy said he does not believe in a number of countries having a nuclear deterrent because, as one country after another develops nuclear weapons, the danger of disaster increases.

It was in that No. 1 Kennedy, statement—that American help to defend Europe will be needed for rope.

A Bit Of History About Early Settlers

By B. F. M. MacPHERSON

A GRAVE IN

GREENMOUNT CEMETERY
The published obituary of Harriet Lane Johnston, as given in the "Public Opinion" of Chambersburg, Pa., is concluded at this time.

"The last of the notable events in which Harriet Lane figured, next to the unveiling of the Buchanan portrait at Mercersburg Academy, was the coronation of Edward VII in London. She was the personal guest of the Sovereign when he and Queen Alexandra were formally crowned.

"In January 1858 Miss Lane became the bride of Henry Elliott Johnston, a wealthy banker of Baltimore, Md., and her married life was happiness itself except for the shadow of death which lingered cruelly over it. Of her two sons, the eldest, James Buchanan Johnston, was a remarkable child from his birth. He died when only 14 years of age in 1881. Death entered the Johnston home twice since then — taking first the second son, Henry Elliott Johnston Jr., and then the husband.

"In recent years much of Mrs. Johnston's time was spent in her Washington, D. C., home."

REPORTS OF DEATH

The editor of the Gettysburg "Compiler," not forgetting the fact that Harriet Lane Johnston

James Buchanan. Her parents occupied the house on the square in Mercersburg now (1962) occupied by John Wardlich, the father of John Wardlich Jr., of this place (Gettysburg).

"Her parents dying during her girlhood, she was taken in charge by her uncle and educated under his direction. When he was appointed Minister to England in 1853, she accompanied him and presided over the American Legation. She formed a friendship with Queen Victoria at the time which continued until the great Queen's death.

WENT TO RUSSIA

"She (Harriet Lane) went with Buchanan to Russia when he became minister to that country and was entertained on their travels at many of the Courts of Europe. It was during her reign at the White House in 1860 that the present (Edward VII) King of England was entertained and on the occasion of his coronation Harriet Lane Johnston was one of the very few who received a personal invitation and was entertained by royalty.

"In 1866 Miss Lane married a wealthy banker, Henry Elliott Johnston, of Baltimore, Md. While her married life was a happy one she lived to bury her husband and her two sons — the only issue of the marriage.

REVIVES MEMORIES

"The death of Harriet Lane Johnston a week or more ago revived memories of her life not the least of which was her Adams County grandmother, Elizabeth (Spear) Buchanan. She (Harriet Lane) was born in Southern Pennsylvania, at Mercersburg, in 1831. Her mother, Jane Buchanan Lane, was a sister of President

ORDER PROBE OF AGENT'S DEATH IN '61

BRYAN, Tex. (AP)—A grand jury will look into the mysterious death of an Agriculture Department agent who had been investigating Billie Sol Estes' dealings in cotton allotments.

Dist. Atty. Bryan Russ ordered the probe Friday "to clear the cloud connecting this with the Billie Sol Estes case—if there is any connection."

The jury will meet at nearby Franklin, Tex., Monday.

Meanwhile, Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., disclosed in Washington that only five months ago he received suggestions of a move to draft Estes to run for governor of Texas. Yarborough said he discouraged the move.

BAR FLIGHT

And in Houston, an Immigration and Naturalization Service officer said that airline and shipping companies are being notified they will be penalized if they give Estes passage out of the country.

The Houston Post quoted James L. Hennessy, executive assistant to the commissioner of immigration and naturalization, as saying in Washington that the order went to every port in the nation for relay to transportation firms.

U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman has been invited to "come down if he has any pertinent information to offer" at the grand jury probe in Franklin, Dist. Atty. Russ said. Freeman has had no comment.

SHOT IN 1961

The death was that of Henry Marshall, shot June 3, 1961, on his farm near Franklin. Local authorities said he died perhaps five hours after he fired five bullets into his abdomen from a .22 caliber, bolt-action rifle.

Marshall was chief of production adjustment for the State Agricultural Stabilization and conservation office.

Freeman said May 7 that much of the Estes case remains cloudy because many of the facts died with Marshall.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., said he expects the Estes scandal to be "a real shaker" before it's over. He said he expects the af-

If you have dandruff, excessive hair fall, thinning hair, excessive oiliness or dryness, itchy scalp, or if your scalp is still creating hair you should take 20 minutes of your time to see what you can do.

Hundreds have reported satisfaction from the Erickson Scalp Method. Why burden yourself with unhealthy hair and scalp? Just go to the New Central Hotel in Hanover, Pa., on Sunday, May 20, only between 1 p.m. and 4:30 p.m. Ask the Hotel Desk Clerk for J. L. Thomas, he will do the rest.

Weddings

McGonigal—Rice

Miss Linda Louise Rice, daughter of Mrs. Edith W. Rice, 363 North St., McSherrystown, and William F. McGonigal, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McGonigal, Chester, were married recently in the Annunciation of the Blessed Virgin Mary Church, McSherrystown. Rev. James Driscoll, Poughkeepsie, N.Y., conducted the double-ring ceremony in a setting of mint green gladioli and white carnations. Miss Joanne Tannahas, soloist, was accompanied by Miss Jeanne Seymour. The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Donald Wagaman, however. Bridal attendants were Mrs. Sally McNulty, Philadelphia, twin sister of the bride, matron of honor; Mrs. Nancy Kuhn, Rockville, Md.; Miss Carolyn Topper, Harrisburg, and Miss Sheila O'Toole, Thurmont, Md., cousin of the bride, bridesmaids.

Joseph McGonigal, Chester, was best man for his brother. Ushers were Ritchey Pendergast, Philadelphia, and Anthony McNulty, Philadelphia, the bride's brother-in-law. A reception at the Knights of Columbus hall, McSherrystown, was attended by about 150 guests. The couple left for a wedding trip to the west coast, where they will visit in Seattle, Wash., and in California. Upon their return they will reside at 4703 25th St., Mt. Rainier, Md.

Mrs. McGonigal, a 1959 Delone Catholic High School graduate, is employed as a private secretary by the U. S. Steel Corp. in Washington. Her husband is a graduate of La Salle College, Philadelphia, and is employed by Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Co.

Westinghouse Presents

"The Wacky World Of Jerry Lewis"

By R. KATLEMAN

Jerry Lewis, one of the least-restrained clowns of this generation, is bringing the gems and highlights of his nightclub act to television this week in an hour-long "special" — his first in three years. The show, which is one of the highpoints of the "Westinghouse Presents" series of "specials," will be seen on Tuesday, May 29, 10-11 p.m. (EDT) over the ABC-TV Network.

The reason for Jerry's long absence wasn't because he wasn't asked to do television. In fact, Jerry reluctantly divulged in Hollywood recently that he had been offered a deal which would have paid him as much money as was spent on all the "Tonight" commercials in one year, for a period of 78 weeks. He turned it down.

DON'T WORK FOR PAY

"I like to work when I can do what I can do best," he explains.

show.

Among the other material he is incorporating into his Wacky World are sketches he has done in the past — Danny Boy with Choir, Symphony Petite, Star Finders and Harvest Moon where again he uses the audience for participation. The agency executive who convinced Jerry that he should do a special this year calls these vignettes milestones in Lewis' career.

Jerry continued with his views on television in general. "I'll do my show live. I don't approve of tape, for me. I'm not knocking the tape industry, believe me. But I think it's being misused by Jerry Lewis will be "hamming it up" on "The Wacky World of Jerry Lewis" Tuesday, May 29, 10 to 11 p.m. ABC-TV.

"I don't work for pay, nor have I ever. You may not believe this, but I get more of a thrill from a live audience than from a piece of paper that says Pay to the Order of Jerry Lewis. I squander my money all over the place. In fact, a friend of mine told me recently that the only way he figured I'd ever save money was to keep working so hard and so regularly that I wouldn't have time to spend it. I do though," he grinned.

But regarding the upcoming Westinghouse show — we're calling it 'The Wacky World of Jerry Lewis.' It is not a one-man show. I feel very definitely on that subject. I think a terrifying mistake made by some comics over the years is that they forget the surrounding people in their act, who can make them look good. I'm a stickler for reality and I feel that, before a comic can become believable, he must call upon real things as a frame."

HAS NEW SKIT

For example, one of the new skits Jerry will do on his ABC special deals with meek little men who finds two tickets to the Academy Awards and banquet and isn't dressed for it — and the makeshift manner in which he manages to get to Hollywood's gala. This is based on fact, actually, since Jerry had heard of a newsman who inadvertently left his tickets for the Academy Awards in a restaurant, and never did find out who found them and used them. It was a true experience, and the fertile mind of Lewis will now magnify it for the people who are difficult or who don't want to work. In my opinion, tape should be utilized as an assist to the impossible, making it little more probable." He paused for a second, smiled wisely in the familiar Lewis clown grin and said, "That's a good line, you know. Very profound!"

CLOWN ONSTAGE

A clown onstage, Lewis shucks this personality immediately when he leaves the studio. He is truly two people — the carefree man who lives to make people laugh and the deeply philosophical comic who is a dedicated husband and father at home. He is not a partygoer now a part of the Hollywood nightclub scene. Weekends he spends at home with his five sons and considers their home a sanctuary.

"There's an awful lot of love in our house, because I have a lot of love," he says simply. "I take time to write little notes to Esther (his wife's real name, which he calls her, rather than Patti, the name used by their friends). Most people don't take the few seconds these little things require. I think they're important. And it's funny how it can affect the entire family. The other night I came home, and found a note from Gary, my oldest boy. Just saying he loved me and what a good father I was. It touched me very much. You try to indoctrinate your children with your philosophy but you can't always. These are the things by which I try to live."

Referring again to his television, Jerry said, "I hope people will like it. Because I love what I do, and I'm proud of what I do. Even when it's bad, and I know that too — the punishment starts inside me immediately. But just as you love your baby that's born healthy, you don't love the sick one any the less. I'm sorry when I don't succeed in pleasing the audience all the time, but I'm proud of the effort I've put into trying."

PET PEEVES

Have you a pet peeve? A number of ABC-TV daytime stars were queried recently and came up with the following:

The singing emcee of "Yours For A Song" Bert Parks has a peeve about the inconsiderate driver who likes his side of the road in the middle. He drives with his full bright lights shining in your mirror, cruising 10 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone. Moreover, he's probably a bit intoxicated.

"I could do without the fellow who phones just when you're getting to sleep, sitting down to a meal or in the middle of a shower," says "Window Shopping" Bob Kennedy. "He usually prefices the conversation with 'What's new?'"

TV Briefs

Garry Moore, a big man on TV with his Tuesday night variety show, still hasn't forgotten his radio manners. It was a gala day on radio for Garry on CBS earlier this month when he did his 5,000th network broadcast.

Gloria Lambert, singer on Mitch Miller's "Sing Along" shows, originally signed for ten appearances last season, has met with such viewer favor that Mitch has repeated her for next season for a total of 30 out of 39 shows.

Dennis Weaver, whose "TV Tonight" variety series produced by Bob Banner Associates has yet to be filmed for the coming season, is doing guest shots in the meantime. He was on "What's My Line?" "Password" and the Perry Como Show.

Chet Huntley has reconverted an old factory on his New Jersey farm into a film laboratory and studio which he'll rent out instead of going into production on his own. However, he'll be available to narrate a limited number of films produced there if the work doesn't conflict with his NBC assignments.

A significant change may take place in the studio expansion plans of Bill Manne and Joe Barbera to house their ballooning cartoon TV operations.

If the firm continues to grow at its present rate, plans will include a heliport to insure the smooth flow of visitors, workers and writers from all parts of Los Angeles to the Studio City plant in the San Fernando Valley. The present facilities are straining the seams with their current production schedules which is led by The Flintstones.

minor league committee, at Friday's joint session here. Details will be worked out later.

ONLY 3 CLASSES

Basically, the majors will guarantee 100 clubs. Instead of three classes, there will be only three—triple A, double A and A. It is likely that there will be 20 triple A teams, 20 double A and 60 Class A. The new classifications would eliminate B, C and D, which would be grouped in Class A while the present double A and A would become double A. There are 110 minors this year, not counting the Mexican League and rookie leagues.

Although Commissioner Ford Frick, a tireless worker on this plan, said no realignment was in prospect immediately, it is obvious that a vast upheaval in the structure of the minors is inevitable.

Eventually each of the 20 major league teams would operate five minors.

Frick said the four new clubs (New York Mets, Los Angeles Angels, Washington and Houston) would be given more time to assume their burden if they wanted it. Other clubs would take over six or seven clubs to account for the required 100.

Grated Parmesan cheese is, of course, a goalong with spaghetti and tomato sauce. But try it sometimes in a tossed green salad or to give zest to a white sauce.
